

If satellite radio is reduced or limited then the world is losing the greatest innovation in communications history since the television. The NAB has no right to try and limit such a wonderful thing that which has become a daily used item in my home. If it was not as great as it is I would not pay the fee to use it, but I think it is well worth every penny. The NAB should not be allowed to restrict what I pay to listen to

Thanks

Dustin Crayton